noticed smth - people aren't just saying that everything on pump.fun rugs bc most shitcoins die - that is an oversimplification. we democratized trading lowcaps so much that everyone is exposed to the really really low odds that come with gambling such low mcaps - before, they only aped stuff with a couple hundred k mcaps. prior to this only a really small number of people were trading shitters under $50k mcap

so my thinking is that if we have an AMM and further develop discovery so people's interests and risk tolerances are accounted for, people will generally be happier (even though most lose); people will play the game they're naturally suited to playing
